1 WHEREAS, The National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act (NCVIA) was signed into law
2 on Nov 14, 1986, in order to reduce the potential financial liability of vaccine makers due to 3 vaccine injury claims. The law gave vaccine manufacturers complete immunity from being sued 4 when their vaccines cause serious harm or even death; and

5 WHEREAS, In addition, the NCVIA limits patients' and parents' ability to refuse 6 vaccinations; and

13 and

14 WHEREAS, In August 2014, under Federal whistleblower protection, Dr. Thompson, a

17 causative relationship between childhood vaccines and autism; and

18 WHEREAS Dr. Thompson released a statement through his attorney that he and his 19 colleagues at the CDC had committed research fraud by destroying data showing a link between

1 the measles, mumps, and rubella (MMR) vaccine and the development of autism in young 2 children; and

3 WHEREAS, In 2016, the Director of the CDC, Thomas Frieden, sent a letter blocking 4 Dr. William Thompson from testifying in a Tennessee court case involving a 16 year old boy who 5 claims his autism was caused by the vaccine. The Director later stated that "Dr. William 6 Thompson's deposition testimony would not substantially promote the objectives of CDC or 7 HHS"; and

14 CDC; and

15 RESOLVED, That this Senate hereby respectfully requests the Congress to conduct a 16 study utilizing unbiased and objective scientists inside or outside the CDC to analyze data 17 collected by the CDC or other public organizations for the purpose of understanding whether 18 vaccines are associated with an increased risk of autism; and be it further

19 RESOLVED, That this Senate hereby respectfully requests the United States Congress to 20 amend the National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act (NCVIA):
